What is Orthodontics

Orthodontic treatment can enhance your smile and help to strengthen your self-confidence. However, orthodontics is about more than just the creation of a beautiful smile. Orthodontics plays an important role in improving overall oral health, and in achieving balance and harmony of the teeth, jaws and facial features. Properly aligned teeth are easier to keep clean, reducing the possibility of dental decay and gum disease. A proper bite distributes the chewing forces more evenly on the teeth and the supporting structures, which can improve your ability to chew and speak.

Orthodontics for Children

The American Association of Orthodontists suggests that the ideal time to consider an orthodontic screening or consultation for your child occurs when the permanent front teeth and first molars erupt into the mouth (i.e. by age seven). For some children, a timely screening may lead to immediate treatment since many orthodontic problems are easier to correct if detected early. This type of early intervention can help to minimize or simplify future treatment needs. For others, treatment may be months or even years away.

Orthodontics for Adolescents

Orthodontic treatment is most commonly initiated during adolescence when most, if not all, of the permanent teeth have erupted into the mouth. During this stage of development, as children enter their teenage years, the psychological and social implications of orthodontics may be most beneficial, giving teenagers the confidence to express themselves and interact in a positive manner.

Orthodontics for Adults

It is never too late to pursue orthodontic treatment, since healthy teeth can be moved at any age. With improved technology and many aesthetically pleasing types of braces and orthodontic appliances, including Invisalign and ceramic braces, orthodontic treatment is an attractive option for adults. Working as a team, together with your dentist and other dental specialists, orthodontics can help you achieve a beautiful and healthy smile.

Payment Policy

Since orthodontic treatment takes time to complete, we are pleased to work out a payment plan with you. Please feel free to talk to us about how we can set up a manageable and personalized payment plan that suits your needs. We accept payment by cash, personal cheque, Visa, Mastercard or Interac.

Emergency

We will always do our best to ensure that any problem relating to your orthodontic treatment is dealt with expeditiously. Many orthodontic emergencies can be easily handled over the telephone so that you are not inconvenienced. If Dr. Morrow or a member of our team cannot be reached, please contact the Dental Emergency Service at 416-485-7121.

Insurance

If you have dental insurance that includes orthodontics, we will try to help you understand your benefit package. In addition, we will assist with the completion and filing of the necessary forms. The type and extent of benefits that you receive depend on what your employer has negotiated with the insurance company.
